

Age Old Wisdom

TESTING LIMITS

Have you ever given much thought to how old you would like to live to be? Can you envision how you would look and function at age 90? 100? 120? In the eyes of most Americans, 90 seems to be a ripe old age while 120 may be taking things too far. In fact, when the Pew Research Center recently asked Americans about their views on age and life-extending treatments, more than half (56 percent) of those surveyed said that they would not want a treatment that enabled them to live to 120. Instead, most people consider the ideal lifespan to be somewhere between 79 and 100 years. The median age was 90.

At Deutsches Altenheim, our goal is to keep our seniors as healthy, active and happy as they can be for as long as possible. Our seniors are our number one priority!

P.S. Americans born today can expect to live, on average, to nearly 79.